The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble. If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Effected Cure.

Heart disease is curable, but in people of advanced age it does not readily lend itself to ordinary treatment. There is, however, hope for all sufferers in Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, which we know from watching hundreds of cases and from the letters of grateful sufferers, will cure where all else has failed. It is not only a wonderful cure for weak and diseased hearts, but it is a blood tonic, a regulator of the heart's action and the most effective treatment ever formulated for improving the circulation of the blood.

"During the Civil war I contracted heart disease, and in 1896, while living in the grand old town of Lexington, Va., I grew so much worse, I left there with my wife to visit my sister-in-law, Mrs. T. A. Kirby, at Roanoke, Va. While I said nothing to anyone I never expected to live to return to the dear old town. On reaching Mrs. Kirby's she insisted I should try Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I procured a few bottles of it, also the Nervine and Tonic. After using one or two bottles, I could see no improvement, and I despaired of ever being better, but my faithful wife insixed on keeping it up, which I did. Improvement soon began in earnest and I took in all fifteen or sixteen bottles. I was re-stored to perfect health and while I am 70 years old, I am comparatively a boy. You sir, are a benefactor, and I cheerfully recommend Dr. Miles' Heart Cure to suffering humanity."—J. L. SLAUGHTER, Salem, Va.

There was trouble in the camp of the McDermots. For years they had run their stills in the heart of the Great Smoky mountains, and never had they a surprised before. But now their stills were gone, some of their men had been shot, while the rest, after scattering, had come together at the river fork to consider what to do.

"There's jist one thing to do," said Branagan, "and that is to wreak vengeance on the man that give us away." "And who was that?" asked Ian Mac-misfortune, which shev attributed to Cameron Swift, the man who taught soon realized. It stands the highest for its always been their friend, they had browonderful cures of the most distressing cases | ken away from MacAlister's influence. For Ian would not listen to a word against Swift, and the gang attributed this to the fact that Ian was the slave of Lucy Swift, the schoolmaster's daughter. Branagan had scarcely spoken when there was the sound of astride pulled up in their midst. "Scatter boys, scatter. The 'revenues' have got wind that you're here and before morning they'll be here."

"Go back to your father," said one of the gang, "and tell him that we want no warning from him or any of his

MacAlister, seeing that he was powerless to protect the girl from insult, without a word took her horse by the bridle and led her away.

"It's no use, Lucy. The men have been informed that your father put the 'revenues' on to them, and they're not to be convinced to the contrary. Go away from here at once."

"I wish you'd come with me," she said as she started on, "and quit the

"But I know who was the traitor." said Swift. "A 'revenue' told me. It was Branagan."

"That won't save you. They're blind Or with rage, and just now Branagan has them completely under his influence. Go at once."

"And you?" asked Lucy. "I'll stay bere and stand 'em off as

In less than half an hour there was a commotion below, men calling to each other and shouting vengeance. Ian listened with his hand on the schoolmaster's rifle, which he had taked down from the wall, waiting till they should come up. He had locked and barred the house and taken posttion at an open window, where he Dayle could fire through closed blinds. He had no mind to hurt any of his comrades; he wanted the blood of Branagan, the man who had betrayed them. On came the gang until they emerged from behind the trees and stood in front of the house. Then MacAllster. with the muzzle of his rifle pointing between the slats of the blind, aimed straight at the heart of Branagan and. taking advantage of a moment when the traitor was not in motion, fired.
